A screenshot of a web browser displaying an 'Add Stock' form. The browser's address bar shows the URL '127.0.0.1:5000/add_items'. The page title is 'Inventory Management System for Retailers'. In the top right corner, there is a user greeting 'Hello, Udhayakumaran h' with a dropdown arrow. On the left side, there is a sidebar menu with four items: 'Dashboard' (with a house icon), 'Add New Stock' (with a blue plus icon), 'View Inventory' (with a shopping cart icon), and 'Update Item' (with an upward arrow icon). The main content area is titled 'Inventory' and contains a form titled 'Details of the new stock'. This form has three input fields: 'Product ID', 'Product Name', and 'No. of Stocks'. Below these fields is a green 'ADD' button.
